They Had A War To Win

The "smelling expeditions" into the never-never lands of insular wartime administration under Franklin D. Roosevelt will be fruitful, there can be no doubt of that.

Nevertheless, their fruitfulness must be viewed with an important reservation in mind: The personalities, debts, arrangements and so on that are certain to look odd when viewed by hindsight were part of the national emergency.

The politicians and businessmen whose records are going to be reviewed for the record had a war to win. They made some momentous mistakes. It already has been proven in court that some of them were careless with the people's money. Most of the myths and legends that made ordinary politicians and businessmen look better than they were have been proved long since to be pure malarkey. The rest soon will be. These were mortal men, subject to all mortal shortcomings.

The shortcomings cannot be blamed on any political party, or any special point of view. Rather they were weaknesses to be expected under stress. For the record, it will be sufficient to demonstrate that weaknesses cropped out—that all surviving myths about supermen in Washington and elsewhere during World War II are groundless. They were just ordinary guys, like everybody else. The men who made the great decisions took long chances, and sometimes they lost. Sometimes they deserve to lose. The time has come now to find out why.

Majority Rule, As Advertised

Spokesmen for labor unions—C. I. O. unions in particular—are tub-thumping a drive to retire every congressman who voted to make unions subject to the same rules as everybody else in the United States.

This is a good sign. It shows the spokesmen are willing to take their chances at the polls, where public issues are settled. The people are going to be registered in a showdown on the issue of special privilege.

Every generation has had a similar showdown. The first special-privilege minority to be trimmed down to size in the United States was the Tories; it took a revolution to subdue them. It took another revolution to handle the slave owners. Bankers and monopolists got theirs in the anti-trust act. The New Deal's contribution to the battle against special privilege was to pin back the ears of public utilities.

Today it's labor union bosses who claim they're too tough to be handled. There was a decision on this last November when voters threw out union-coddling majorities in both houses of Congress, but apparently it's going to take another demonstration to convince the bosses that the United States is bigger than any of its minorities.

Either majority rule in the United States can work, as advertised, or it isn't worth having. The majority of the American people, feeling that labor unions are indispensable but convinced that unions are getting a black eye from exploiters with more on their minds than the welfare of wage earners, have expressed themselves once. They will welcome a chance to express themselves again next year, if that's what the union bosses want.

He Forgets Quickly

In 1946 when President Truman ended the railroad strike by naming names and talking like a dutch uncle to the strikers, A. P. Whitney, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen president, retaliated with some of the bitterest remarks publicly directed against a president in years.

"The President appealed to trainmen and engineers to repudiate their leaders," said Whitney. "His appeal, however, fell on deaf ears as the train, engine and yard men have no more regard for him than they have for the Pendergast cesspool from which he gained political recognition." That and much more in similar vein.

That's why it's surprising to find Whitney coming forward with what virtually amounts to an endorsement of Mr. Truman for 1948. Whitney got over his mad very quickly. What has brought about such a rapid reconciliation? It's true that time heals all wounds and old hurts smart less when the new day's sun rises. But Whitney made some very strong remarks to be forgotten so quickly. Upon what railroad turntable do his political convictions spin?

It Could Be Embarrassing

There's a rumor in circulation that soft-coal miners, on orders from the United Mine Workers president John L. Lewis, are doing their best to prove that increased efficiency can offset their latest pay raise.

This could be as embarrassing as a pig under the parlor sofa. In the first place, the miners' best is pretty good. If they set out to prove something, chances are they'll prove it.

In the second place, the President of the United States in person asked coal retailers and such users of coal as the steel industry to hold back on price-boosting until they'd had a chance to see what the miners could do in the way of efficiency.

In the third place, the retailers and such users of coal as the steel industry—disregarding the President's advice to wait—raised prices before the wage settlement in the coal industry even had been put into effect. Without exception, they cited the settlement as one of the reasons—in some cases the only reason—why they were raising prices. They were a little too eager to seize an excuse; it may turn out that they walked into a trap laid for them by Mr. Lewis, who is potentially able to make them eat their own statistics.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, July 31
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

An uncertain, perplexing and complicated set of circumstances threatens the easy going of ambitious projects already launched on promising premises.

False moves, unprincipled tactics, even stupid or ill-considered ways and means, might upset the encouraging buildup for popularity, good position or relations with higher-ups or influential persons. Business, finance, social and affectional aspirations may be jeopardized by wrong or fumbling gestures. Keep alert and straightforward.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find the final culmination of their affairs depends upon the shrewd, sagacious, and high-principled manipulation of matters already well under way, holding prospects of progress and fulfilled ambitions of consequence.

It is possible that a want of clarity, keen grasp on uncertain developments, with confused or indecisive conduct, may endanger flourishing conditions. Especially should resort to expediency rather than principle be avoided. Funds, assets, personal popularity and prestige are at stake, dependent on clean cut and honest effort.

A child born on this day has splendid prospects for success, with enhanced popularity and progress, but a slant toward the irregular or shiftless might prove its undoing. Principle, not expediency, should be inculcated.

Maybe they do live happily ever after—but after what?

Every man should read this to his wife: A Kentucky man broke his collarbone while beating a rug.

It's funny nobody ever thought of selling remnants of wall paper for kids to write on.

Sour Notes

Device For Drying 'Wet' Corn Sought

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 30—The government called upon its best engineering brains to develop a machine which—by lessening the effect of frost damage to the nation's corn crop—would help keep meat supplies on an even keel.

Due to a cool, wet planting season, much of this year's corn is late. Some of it—possibly a large portion—will be killed by frost before it has fully matured.

Such corn, described by farmers at "wet" corn, is high in moisture content and does not store well. Likewise, it does not have as good feeding quality as fully-matured corn.

With every grain needed in a world short of food and with the government eager for a downturn in meat prices, officials are anxious to see that none of this year's anticipated "wet" corn goes to waste.

They are placing much of their hopes on the ability of Agriculture department engineers and grain experts to develop, within the next 30 days, a portable, low-cost, corn-drying machine that could be produced in quantity this fall and early winter.

Such a machine, they say, would be of vital help in drying high-moisture corn to meet live stock feeding needs until the 1948 corn crop is harvested.

Should a large portion of this year's crop be caught by frost, farmers would be confronted with the necessity of feeding as much of the grain as they could in the immediate months ahead.

This would result in a shortage of the grain next spring and summer.

Attorney General Won't Identify Liquor Probers

COLUMBUS, July 30—Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins today said he was withholding for security reasons names of two men assisting his investigation into "overstocking" of the state liquor department.

Jenkins explained he wanted to keep their identity secret to enable them to work under cover.

A formal inquiry into the reason for an estimated $42,000,000 of liquor being in state warehouses got under way yesterday.

One investigator was described as a former FBI agent and the other as a former agent for the Bureau of Internal Revenue. They will be joined by two other investigators later this week.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

When A Baby Has Colic

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A LITTLE experience tells a watchful mother when her baby is suffering from colic for she soon learns to recognize the hard, sharp cry which signifies abdominal distress. This type of crying usually occurs in the evening though, once in a while, such a baby will cry all through the day.

The baby's sleep is disturbed and during an attack its knee will be bent and its abdominal muscles contracted and rigid.

Treatment of Colic

According to Dr. Arthur S. Brackett, of the Yale University School of Medicine, the colic may be due to the fact that the capacity of the baby's stomach and bowel, or bowel alone, is less than normal. Thus, the treatment of the colic consists in controlling the volume and quality of food put into the stomach and bowel.

This can be done by increasing the number of feedings to shorter intervals, decreasing the size of the feedings and, if necessary, increasing the concentration. Thus in treating the colic, it is necessary for the doctor to determine just what feedings may be best.

Four-Hour Feedings
Some infants will do better on four-hour feedings, others on three-hour, and not infrequently only two hours should elapse between the feedings. However, the more frequently the feedings are given, the less quantity is permitted, and, if necessary, water is given between feedings.

Sometimes it is helpful to give the drug known as atropine, since this tends to relax the bowel spasms.

When the feeding intervals are shortened, the baby should be kept on this schedule until the capacity of the intestine has increased to the degree that larger amounts of food may be taken at less frequent times.

In some cases, it may be found that a change to evaporated or dry milk will be helpful, especially if there is a history of allergy or oversensitivity in the family.

In the case of a breast-fed baby, Dr. Brackett believes that the colic will be relieved if the baby is put on a two-hour feeding schedule, being permitted to nurse for just five minutes at each time. This means that the baby gets ten feedings a day.

Dr. Brackett points out that the early care of colic is important in order to prevent partial starvation during the time when there is a most-active development of the nervous system. It is also necessary to prevent sweat and tear on the parents, as well as pain in the baby.

Not all physicians agree with Dr. Brackett's method of treating colic, but it would appear that it may have advantages in many cases.

Letters to Dr. Bundesen should be addressed in care of 235 E. 45th St., New York City.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 million of tiny tubules which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubules flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

A Statement To Our Customers About Resale

PRICES of PRODUCTS

Built by International Harvester Company

Here at Harvester we are concerned over the fact that a growing number of our products are appearing on the resale market at greatly inflated prices.

As manufacturers, we try to produce at the lowest possible cost. We cannot set the prices at which our products—tractors, motor trucks, farm implements, refrigeration, and industrial power equipment—are sold. We can and do suggest list prices which the great majority of our dealers adopt as their retail prices.

$20,000,000 Price Reduction
Our basic price policy was publicly stated in March, 1947, when we announced price reductions at the rate of approximately $20,000,000 per year on our products. At that time, Fowler McCormick, Chairman of the Board, said: "ANY PRICE IS TOO HIGH IF IT CAN BE REDUCED."

Practically all of our dealers cooperated with this policy and passed on the savings to their customers. The objective of the price reductions was to make it possible for customers to buy our products, which they need so badly, at lower prices. Naturally, this purpose is defeated when our products are sold by anybody at inflated prices.

IH Production at All-Time Peak
Inflated prices are caused by the difference between supply and demand. To increase supply, we now have the greatest number of employees in history on our payrolls—almost 90,000 in the United States, as against about 60,000 prewar. Large new plants are getting into production in Louisville, Evansville, and Melrose Park. A fourth will soon be in operation in Memphis. The men and women now employed are turning out the greatest quantities of IH products of all kinds that we have ever made. These are also the finest products we have ever made, and recognition of that fact is an important contributing factor to the demand for them.

Distribution to Dealers

But even record-breaking production is not sufficient to give your dealer—and other IH dealers—enough products to meet today's demand. We have tried to make the fairest possible geographical allocation of our products so that every dealer would get a fair share, and we know that dealers, in most cases, have tried earnestly to make the fairest possible distribution to their customers.

But we also know that many of our products—far too many—are being resold at inflated prices. The public criticism and resentment of these resales are of real concern to us, as we know they must be to our dealers, because such reactions endanger the good will of both the dealer and the Company in any community.

Distribution to Customers

Experience shows that many IH new products are being resold by users who decide they can continue to make out with their old equipment after they have had an inflated offer for their new equipment. To eliminate this, many dealers are taking measures to be sure that equipment purchased is for their customers' own use and is not to be resold.

Nearly all IH dealers, we believe, are now using the basis of PRESENT NEED as their primary guide for the sale of scarce products. The customer whose need is real and urgent is not likely to resell.

What Price Should You Pay?

While it may take a little more time to get delivery, we urge our customers to consider all of the factors mentioned here, before paying more than the list price for any IH product. Any IH dealer or branch can furnish the suggested list price for any IH product.

We know that the overwhelming majority of IH dealers are as much opposed to inflated prices as we are. In the public interest, we have already asked their cooperation—and are now asking the cooperation of customers—in correcting this situation.

LOS ANGELES—After three days of 95-degree weather, most Los Angeles folks were grumbling plenty today, but consider the case of Mail carrier Harold Fairber, 39.

His route includes 10 hills topped by the 2100 block of Fargo st—a 32 per cent incline.

Postal Station Supt. Lee Burlington figured it was the steepest in the city. The city engineer's office found one other block on Fargo st.

It was a 33 per cent incline. "I won't argue about one degree," said Fairber, mopping his brow.

"All I know is that when I get one foot off the ground, I'm lucky if my bag doesn't pull me over backward."

CHICAGO—An apparently thirsty man padded silently into a Chicago tavern, leaped nimbly to a stool and looked around for some service.

Britain May Cut Army for Economy

LONDON, July 30—Authoritative sources said today Great Britain might reduce her armed forces and dip into her £640,000,000 ($2,500,000,000) gold and dollar reserve as emergency measures to meet the prospective winter economic crisis.

Left wing labor party members have been urging the government to cut down the army, navy and air force, which had 1,297,300 men at the start of the month.

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the British imperial general staff, was to cut short his Far Eastern tour and fly home within a few days to advise the labor government concerning reduction of the armed forces, these informants said.

Whitehall sources said tapping the gold and dollar reserve would be a stopgap between the time when the $3,750,000,000 loan from the United States is exhausted late this year or early next and the time when the projected Marshall plan or some other U. S. program of financial aid to Europe became effective.

Earth Movement Alarms Townfolk At Welch, W. Va.

(By Associated Press)

WELCH, W. Va., July 30.—Welch tottered today on the rim of the earth, and the 6,000-odd inhabitants hoped their homes were not being sucked under the soil.

Torn sidewalks, ruptured building and buckled pavements showed the effects of the slow earth movement which has quickened in recent months.

Mayor L. E. Rogers guessed an underground stream might be to blame. He has told the city council that by listening at a wall at the rear of the Pocomtoto theater, one can hear running water.

Another theory was that, in years past, coal had been mined beneath this southern West Virginia coal center, weakening the city's foundations; but there were no charts to back up this suggestion.

Officials, pondering the fate of their city, were considering what steps should be taken. There was no indication whether geologists would be called in to study the mystery.

The brick postoffice has burst its seams with a fissure at the rear, running the height of the building.

The McDowell County National bank has fought balky doors which, an official said, have to be re-aligned every few weeks.

The Ellwood hotel, the Appalachian Electric Power Co. and tracks of the Norfolk and Western railway have felt the effects of the sub-soil movement.

Residents said their homes have been settling for years, but the sinking has grown worse recently.

Rescind 'Off-Limits' Order

FREMONT, July 30.—The Army announced that a recent order placing Port Clinton "off-limits" for soldiers of the 37th division was rescinded last night. The order was placed in effect several days ago after editorial complaint of soldiers' actions. Col. Julius Stark, division chief of staff, said inquiry failed to substantiate the newspaper's claims.

Britain To Pare Military Budget

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, July 30.—Attlee told labor legislators today that Britain would slash her military commitments in Germany, Italy and Greece almost immediately because of the nation's looming economic crisis.

Attlee won a virtual vote of confidence from labor members of parliament after explaining to them the "broad lines" of his plan for meeting the crisis.

A bulletin issued after the meeting said the members had expressed "complete satisfaction of the party" with the prime minister's statement and added:

"The members assured him of the united support of the parliamentary party (the labor M.P.s) in all the measures which the government thought it necessary to take."

Attlee faced the legislators, many of whom had been critical of his leadership, at a strictly private caucus. Details of the explanation which he made at the caucus were not made public, but the bulletin issued after the meeting said he would explain his plan in the house, of commons next week.

Earlier a well-informed source had said that Attlee would call upon Britain's miners to work an extra hour daily to increase the production of critically needed coal—principal prop of the nation's trembling economic structure.

The source said Attlee would suggest time and a half pay for the overtime.

On Sanitation Board

YOUNGSTOWN, July 30.—Appointment of A. I. Kidston as a member of the Mahoning valley sanitary district board was announced by Judge Erskine Maiden, Jr., and Lynn B. Griffith of Mahoning and Trumbull common pleas courts.

In the last 10 months of 1946-47, $160,000 worth of show dogs left Britain, more than half of them to American breeders and exhibitors.

2,300 New Liquor Permits Available

COLUMBUS, July 30.—More than 2,300 Ohio liquor licenses will be available after Sept. 15 when wartime freeze orders terminate, but Liquor Director Dale Dunifon warned there would be no great rush to issue the new permits.

"Every applicant will be rigidly and carefully screened when we start accepting them on Sept. 1," Dunifon explained. "Our enforcement division will conduct a thorough investigation of each applicant and location."

Cleveland, Akron, Dayton, Youngstown and Canton already have their legal quota of permits, he pointed out, and will not be benefited by lifting of the ban. Only night club permits will be available in Cincinnati, Columbus, and Toledo.

The war-freeze order termination will take 680 restaurant and 1,522 night club licenses available in Ohio communities.

Most of the licenses to become available are in townships scattered through 84 counties, accounting for nearly 1,300 of the 2,332 total.

License fee for a D-3 restaurant permit is $400; for a night club license $1,000.

The number of restaurant and night club permits open by counties include:

Columbiana—East Liverpool 3 night club; townships 11 restaurant, 28 night club.
Jefferson—Steubenville 2 night club, 3 restaurant, 20 night club.
Stark—Canton none; Massillon none; townships and villages 7 restaurant, 34 night club.
Trumbull—Warren 1 night club; townships and villages, 2 restaurant, 10 night clubs.

YOUNGSTOWN, July 30.—The state of Ohio was ordered today to pay $90,227 for a Pennsylvania railroad passenger station in Youngstown.

A Mahoning county common pleas court jury hiked the state's original offer of $87,560 for the property, which the railroad claimed was worth $400,000. The highway department needs the site for a $1,500,000 bridge over the Mahoning river.

The Nation Today

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, July 30.—Here's an outline of what this country is doing at this time in American history with atomic energy.
You, an ordinary citizen, can't imagine it all. Few people can, unless they're high in the government or are scientists.
The work is too huge, too scattered, too complicated, too scientific, and much of it is being done behind closed doors.
The outline given here is pretty sketchy because there still is so much secrecy surrounding the development of atomic energy.
It is pieced together from the report which the government's atomic energy commission made to Congress.
This commission, which makes such a report twice a year, is the loss of atomic energy and everything connected with it in this country.
And the commission isn't telling everything, by a long sight.
But first of all: New and bigger (or worse) atomic bombs are being made.
The government will continue to do this until it reaches — if it reaches — agreement with other nations on controlling atomic bomb-making.
Somewhere in the Pacific it is setting up "proving grounds" for testing atomic weapons and experimenting with them.
This country is out in front now with the atomic bomb, and it's trying to stay there. The commission says:
"To rely on existing knowledge alone could be disastrous."
So the government is pouring huge sums into trying to learn more about atomic energy and how to use it for war and peace.
For the fiscal year starting July 1 and ending next June 30, the government will spend probably more than $500,000,000 on atomic work.
Here's one quick example of something the government is trying to find out now: Can atomic energy make planes fly or drive warships?
Scattered around the United States, the government has 41,500 people working on atomic projects, of one kind or another.
It is trying to get scientists, administrators and engineers of first rate ability but the commission says they're "relatively few in number."
Repeatedly the commission moans about the lack of the right kind of trained men. It says:
"The nation's supply of trained nuclear scientists and engineers is now woefully short."
Besides the job of keeping ahead with knowledge of making atomic weapons, the government is tackling this double job:

1. Trying to find a way of helping industry and communities with atomic power. This is a long-range job. It won't be done overnight.
2. Seeking discoveries for medical use, such as in cancer treatment.
The commission has five main government laboratories: At Los Alamos, N. M.; Oak Ridge, Tenn.; Chicago; one being built at Patchogue, Long Island, N. Y., and one being built at Schenectady, N. Y.
More than 50 universities are doing work in connection with the work done at those laboratories. If it did nothing else, this would be good training for young scientists in the atomic field.
But other work is being done at big private laboratories and by industrial firms.
The commission can let some atomic information out, some it must keep secret. This means guarding plants and checking on the loyalty of workers with the help of the FBI.

Cleveland Police Slay Burglar, Capture Second

CLEVELAND, July 30.—An ex-convict was in suburban Lakewood jail Tuesday and his partner fatally wounded after they were surprised during the burglary of a home.
Police identified the captured man as Raymond Knierim, 26, of Cleveland, convicted of auto theft and burglary. He said his partner was John Vanalam, also of Cleveland.
Mrs. Virginia Hutchinson called police when she and her mother, Mrs. Maria Andrews, returned home from a dinner and found second-floor rooms lighted and shades pulled down.
A total of five policemen participated in the capture. Patrolman Herbert Capell shot Vanalam when the intruder lunged at the officer in answer to the patrolman's shout for him to raise his arms.
The second burglar fled from the second floor to a coal bin in the basement and ran into the arms of a policeman when he attempted to escape.
Police said they found in Knierim's pockets jewelry and wallets which belonged to Mrs. Hutchinson and her husband John, who was out of town.

All-Star Benefit To Open New Prospect Field Next Week

Old Timers To Meet Class "B" All-Stars In First Game

Heralding the opening of the West End recreational playground and park, the American League and National League All-Star teams from Salem's Class A softball will clash at the Prospect st. field in a gala night contest sometime next week, the Salem softball committee announced following a meeting at the Memorial building Tuesday night.

Although the date of the game is still a question, due to final work on the new lighted softball field, the committee decided Tuesday to begin the ticket sale for the benefit game today through the managers of the 19 Class A softball teams.

The committee said the two All-Star teams, selected by league managers will play in the feature game preceded by a contest between the Class B All-Stars and a special Old Timer outfit to be drawn from the ranks of the originators of softball in Salem some 25 years back.

The personnel of the All-Star teams in Class A will be announced in The News tomorrow, along with the roster of the Class B outfit and the veteran group.

Committee plans for the big occasion include music by the American Legion Quaker City band and possibly the Fairmount Children's Home band and other specialties. The game will be the official opening of the new west end park and will also serve as a means to raise additional funds for work to be done there.

The committee has set the donation admission price of the benefit affair at 50 cents and hopes to raise enough money to complete its extensive plans for a recreational and picnic area for the western sector of Salem.

The date of the game will be announced later this week or possibly early next week. It depends on completion of the final details at the field.

FELLER HALTS SOS STREAK; BLACK TO HURL AGAIN TODAY

Boudreau's Hitting Timely Again As He Collects 101st of Season

(By Associated Press) BOSTON, July 30.—The Cleveland Indians, having stopped the Boston Red Sox' winning streak at seven games, try for their third in a row tonight when they meet the Soxers in the second game of the series.

Don Black, who owns an 8-7 record, will hurl for the Tribe against Earl Johnson, with a season's showing of seven victories and three defeats.

Bob Feller's pitching and Eddie Robinson's home run blasting smashed Boston's winning streak yesterday.

In beating the league champions for the second time, Feller was forced to leave the game in the ninth inning when he developed a blister on his pitching hand. Ed Killeman saved the victory.

Robinson twice hit for the circuit, his 10th and 11th home runs of the season.

Cleveland staked Feller to a one-run lead in the first inning when George Metkovich singled and Lou Boudreau followed with a double, his 101st hit of the year.

Joe Gordon's double and Dale Mitchell's single meant another run in the fifth and Robinson's first home run opened the sixth. Boudreau's walk preceded Robinson's second homer in the eighth.

Denny Galehouse was the loser. Boston's lone run came in the seventh when Sam Dente singled. Sam Mele cracked a base hit, Ted Williams walked and Bobby Doerr hit a long fly.

Cleveland collected 11 hits, while Boston made eight, seven of them off Feller.

Tribe Catcher Jim Hegan was injured by a foul tip off the bat of Dom DiMaggio in the sixth inning and was replaced by Al Lopez.

DINER, CRESCENTS, GOLDEN EAGLE AND VFW'A' CONTENDERS

Two Pair Lined Up For Duels for Class A Softball League Titles

As the final games of the second round near in both Class A softball leagues the Diner and Crescents seemed tagged for the American League title struggle and the VFW and the Golden Eagle for the National League Cup.

The Golden Eagle made even more noise that Tuesday evening at Centennial park, virtually eliminating Demings, first round titlist, by a 1-0 margin, as Dale Ritchie returned to 1944 form with a one-hitter.

The Diner helped its American League cause also, measuring a Hannays outfit 3-1 to climb to the top rung with the Crescents.

The two teams have yet to play each other this round.

In the other two games Tuesday the Cottage pulled a fast one on the Salem Tool, until last night a one-loss National League entry. The restaurateurs pulled a slugfest out of the bag 12-9 to cramp Tool title hopes.

The mighty Amvets, down in the lower sector of the American, but still tough to beat, came through with an easy 12-4 win over the Nationals, who are a step below the Amvets in the standings.

By far the outstanding feature of Tuesday's play was Dale Ritchie's exceptional one-hit performance against his old rival, Deming.

Only another Ritchie, pronounced the same but spelled differently, could slay out one of Pitcher Dale's offerings.

His mates failed to touch Keny Brudery very heavily, but did contribute a run on three bingles.

Grady Odom of the Amvets suffered from a heavy bat yesterday, banging away for three hits in four times at the plate. Johnny Zines allowed the Nats just five safeties, but didn't over-do himself.

Diner clubbing at the right time, early in the fray, meant victory over Hannays, who couldn't bunch four hits properly. The Diner had five, will grouped for three big runs.

Bloor, Workman and Wade McGhee led the Cottage onslaught against the surprised Salem Tool. A total of 21 hits were made in that game.

KELLER WAN, WEAK; KNOWS THERE WILL BE NO SERIES PLAY

Says He May Not Be Able To Play Ball Next Year. Out For Series

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK, July 30.—Charley Keller smiled sadly from the rumpled whiteness of a hospital bed today and disclosed that there was no possibility of his return to the New York Yankees in time for the World Series.

"Not a chance," Charley said bitterly. "The only thing I can hope for is to be ready by next spring and that I won't need further operations which would take a whole year out of my baseball life."

This wasn't the burly, deep-chested Keller whose murderous stance at the plate thrilled the fans and horrified major league pitchers. He was wan and weak, the one-time Maryland strong boy, and his powerful right leg was propped up motionless on a blanket.

The swift, deft strokes of a scalpel in the hand of Dr. Thomas Hoen on July 18 saved him from being a cripple for life. But there still is a possibility that another, and far more serious, operation may be necessary.

"We won't know until I try to work out again—which won't be until next spring," Keller said. "They have been treating my leg in a therapeutic whirlpool and I tried to hobble on it a bit today for the first time. I'll be here in the hospital another week and then I'll spend about six weeks at my home in Frederick (Md.) before returning for another examination."

"It's definite that I won't be playing ball anymore this year," Keller's brown eyes went blank as he said that and thought of the Yankees probably entering the Series without him. A star with the Yanks for seven years, he has been a Series standout four times.

Charley was forced out of action the first week of June, at which time he was leading the league in home runs and runs batted in.

"I was caught in a rundown at Detroit and something snapped," he explained. "After that I just couldn't run."

"Even now," Charley explained, "there's no assurance that this operation will clear up the trouble. I may have to have another in which they would fuse the two vertebrae and that would take almost a year."

"It will be a couple of months, probably before I can walk all right," Keller said. "And it will be even longer before I can run and think of playing baseball because you have to go through so many strenuous motions and there's no use taking chances."

Meanwhile, the 30-year-old outfielder dreams enviously of his Yankee mates as they roar toward their first pennant since 1943.

The fellows are playing great ball," he grinned wistfully. "They come in here to see me and tell me how lucky I am, to be able to lie in bed and not have to play ball in that hot sun."

"But what I'd give to be out there with them," The Yankees would give a lot, too. They are winning, but it would come a lot easier with "King Kong" up there at the dish taking his licks.

Midgets To Face Final Test At Stadium Saturday

CLEVELAND, July 30.—The fate of midget auto racing in the Cleveland stadium will hang in the balance Saturday night when the midgets make their third and final "test" appearance.

Attendance at the three test programs will determine whether the home of the Cleveland Indians will be the site of future racing.
